ATTENTION ASPIRING EXECUTIVE LEADERS

Participate in the Executive Leadership Certificate program from the University of Colorado Denver with a cohort of your colleagues from the metro area. This four hybrid course certificate is designed to prepare aspiring leaders to assume roles as presidents, superintendents and other higher education or district level executives with leadership roles and responsibilities. Students will consider the implications of current issues in public and higher education by asking how each may impact the leader's ability to ensure equity, build capacity, and foster community within an organization committed to high levels of learning for all. This global perspective will accentuate the skill set needed for future leaders.

Each hybrid course is worth 3 graduate-level semester credits and includes a course-embedded internship. The first three courses may be applied towards the certificate or to the Executive Leadership concentration in the EdD degree in the School of Education & Human Development at the University of Colorado Denver. All four courses qualify you for the Administrator PLACE exam. Courses may be taken in any order. For program admission requirements, please visit www.ucdenver.edu/education/elp.

COURSES:
EDUC 7500  Strategic Human Capital Development
This course focuses on understanding and leveraging the personnel function of an educational organization. You will learn how to strategically align and maximize your human capital with organizational strategic objectives.
SUMMER 2010:  Saturdays (8:30am-4:30pm) – 6/12, 7/10, 8/7
LOCATION:  18551 E. 160th Ave.  Brighton, CO 80601
REGISTER:  Email cpe@ucdenver.edu to request info.
DEADLINE:  June 20, 2010 (Still must attend 1st class 6/12.)

EDUC 7510  Strategic Organizational Management
This course examines the importance of strategic visioning, strategic planning, and specific communication strategies between an organization and its’ various constituencies. This course uses real-life scenarios to build your ability to maximize the value that boards bring to the educational endeavor.
FALL 2010:  Saturdays (8:30am-4:30pm) – 9/18, 10/16, 11/20

EDUC 7520  Strategic System Improvement
The fundamental purpose of educational organizations (schools, districts, community colleges, higher education, non-profits) is to ensure high levels of learning for all. This course addresses topics such as data development and management, accountability, curriculum assessment and instruction, continuous improvement, and professional learning.
SPRING 2011:  3 Saturdays (8:30am-4:30pm) – 1/15, 2/19, 3/19

EDUC 7530  Leadership Development
This course examines the challenges of educational leadership and helps participants clarify the core values essential to their success as leaders.
SUMMER 2011:  3 Saturdays (8:30am-4:30pm) – 4/16, 5/21, 6/18

COST:  $349 per credit; $1047 per course; $4188 per certificate
(Plus a $50/course hybrid fee. Tuition increases may occur after summer 2010.)