Collaborative teams of dedicated teachers and award-winning faculty prepare you for success in any classroom, anywhere.

Our graduates’ level of preparedness is equivalent to that of a more experienced and confident teacher. That’s because at CU Denver’s School of Education & Human Development, you don’t just learn from anyone, you learn from the best. Further, because of our urban location and emphasis on teaching in diverse contexts, our graduates are ready to lead – and make a difference – in any classroom.

Where future teachers prepare to be the best.

If you feel a passion to teach and are driven to make a positive impact on students’ lives, this graduate teacher education program lets you launch your new career in as little as a year while delivering a level of preparation that puts you ahead. Learning from dedicated teachers and award-winning faculty in a residency program perfected and proven through 25 years of ongoing work with partner schools make our program – and our graduates – stand out.

Our residencies deliver deeper learning because we’ve been working with our partner schools for more than 25 years.

Any school can promise a residency. Few can deliver one as well supported and prepared as ours. For over 25 years, we have been working closely with area schools to create a proven residency program that supports your development as you work with teams of dedicated practicing teachers, teacher leaders, and university faculty in the school.

Launch your new teaching career quickly.

Our program offers different start times and program lengths in order to accommodate your personal obligations. In fact, it’s possible to complete our program in as little as one year.

As one of the top education schools in the country, we’re proud to help people like you become teachers.

At CU Denver’s School of Education & Human Development, you’ll be... surrounded by other committed, talented students who are determined to make a positive impact in the classroom. They are drawn to our program because they want a deeper level of preparedness – one that will allow them to give their best to every student, every day.

This MA + teaching license program is designed as a full-time program. Candidates progress as a member of a cohort. The teacher licensure coursework combines on-campus learning with in-school experiences.

Scholarships and grants available.

Areas of Concentration

- Elementary Education (48 credit hours)
- Secondary Education (39 credit hours)
- English
- Mathematics
- Social Studies
- Science
- French
- Spanish
- Special Education Generalist (51 credit hours)
- Dual Elementary/Special Education (69 credit hours)
- Dual Secondary/Special Education (60 credit hours)

Apply Now

Website: education.ucdenver.edu/graduateteacher
303.315.6300
education@ucdenver.edu

Questions? We encourage you to connect with our Office of Recruitment & Outreach to assist with the application.

Scholarship/grants

We offer a variety of scholarships and grants. For a complete list of financial aid opportunities, visit ucdenver.edu/education/scholarships.

---

About CU Denver

The University of Colorado Denver provides a quality academic experience through engagement with gifted faculty members, exposure to original research and real-world learning. Located in the heart of downtown, CU Denver offers its 14,000 students unparalleled internship, career and networking opportunities. Part of the fabric of the city, CU Denver has evolved into a leading urban public campus boasting eight schools and colleges. CU Denver is committed to providing students opportunities to enhance their lives and careers and to learn with purpose. For more information on CU Denver, please visit us at www.ucdenver.edu.

The School of Education & Human Development at the University of Colorado Denver attracts students who are passionate about careers in teaching and mental health. We match their passion with an education that is rooted in diversity, technology, proven approaches and real-world practice. That’s why our graduates are prepared to make immediate and life-long impacts on people, communities and the world. Email education@ucdenver.edu for more information.