University Of Colorado Hospital Ethics Grand Rounds

Gaining Patient Cooperation: Ethical Considerations Around Restraint, Coercion, Deception

Presenter:
Megan Prescott, LCSW, NSW-C, BCC

Megan, a Lead Ethics Consultant with the University of Colorado Hospital Ethics Committee, has been a member of the University of Colorado Hospital (UCH) Ethics Committee since 2011, and a member of the UCH Ethics Consult Service since 2013.

A Nephrology Social Worker, Megan has been honored twice with the "Social Worker of the Year" award from the NKF of Colorado, Montana and Wyoming. She sat on the Executive Committee as Chair of Publications with the National Council of Nephrology Social Workers (CNSW), and served a five-year term on the Editorial Board of the Journal of Nephrology Social Work.

Megan is published in Nephrology News and Issues, the Journal of Nephrology Social Work, Renalink and Family Focus, and has lectured around the country about issues related to the challenges unique to caring for the dialysis patient population.
