Pediatric Residency Program, Colorado
Welcome Letters

Adam Rosenberg, MD
Residency Program Director

Our program is designed to offer stimulating and comprehensive educational training in the specialty of pediatrics. It attracts a pediatric population that allows residents exposure to all major acute and chronic diseases of childhood. The program provides a broad educational experience that includes clinical rotations at Children's Hospital Colorado, Denver Health, the University of Colorado Hospital, and National Jewish Health.

Denver is a regional referral center, caring for children from a 500,000 square mile area. As a result, our residents are exposed to a tremendous range of problems, from core “bread and butter” pediatrics to the most challenging and unusual cases. We have more than 300 full-time faculty at our main and affiliated institutions and more than 400 clinical faculty members, many of whom you will meet and befriend. The diversity of the faculty and the residents assures an exciting learning environment that thrives on challenging questions and new approaches to pediatric issues. Denver is also a wonderful place to be. Denverites take advantage of both a sophisticated city and the incomparable mountains of Colorado.

We are committed to maintaining and expanding our role as pediatricians and advocates for children in the world. We are proud of the fact that four UCD physicians have served as president of the American Academy of Pediatrics in the past 20 years. We hope you will find time to visit our program in the near future and look forward to meeting you at that time.

Sincerely,

Adam A. Rosenberg, MD
