Texas Participants: Please note this conference will take the place of the annual conference which the Correctional Management Institute of Texas normally provides in June.

ABOUT NAPN

Since the early 1980's, providers working with sexually abusive children and adolescents have shared information through the National Adolescent Perpetration Network, the only national organization focused entirely on these youth. NAPN is a voluntary, multidisciplinary, inclusive and non-hierarchical network, bringing together professionals and paraprofessionals from child welfare, juvenile justice and mental health.

More than three decades of work have informed enormous changes in our understanding of juvenile sexual offending, and best practices for prevention and intervention continue to evolve. Good news has abounded in discoveries from research that inform a more comprehensive holistic understanding of the functioning of youth. With the intervening economic stresses, it becomes increasingly important to maximize the effective use of scarce resources and to advocate for successful strategies in our communities. The need for continuing education is clear, if we are to bring the most up to date services to the youth we treat and maximize safety in our communities. New information is constantly changing what we need to know and do in practice and the annual NAPN conferences are all about sharing up to date information!

ABOUT THE 2017 NAPN ANNUAL NATIONAL CONFERENCE

NAPN's Annual Conferences provide a safe haven and the opportunity for us to share and renew our commitment to preventing sexual abuse. Challenging, validating & sharing; Struggling with common dilemmas; Discovering new solutions; Enlightening & Supporting each other.... these are the goals for presentations on laws and policy; juvenile justice, assessment & treatment, probation, community supervision & care. Particularly timely are strategies for maximizing services with scarce resources, use of risk assessment and typology research in policy and treatment planning, dealing with sibling relationships, transitions into adult independence for emancipating youth, neurological and psychiatric interventions, community safety. So much has been learned through practice experience and discoveries from research that inform our understanding of the growth, development, and functioning of youth. Today's models for treatment of sexually abusive youth are dramatically different from the modified adult programs the field started with in the 1980's. By addressing factors specifically relevant to juveniles that decrease the risks of sexual deviance and abusive dynamics while increasing the opportunity for healthy relationships and successful outcomes, treatment is likely to achieve results far beyond the initial goals of containment and risk management. Current models aim to decrease the risks of sexual problems and abusive dynamics while increasing the capacity for healthy relationships and successful futures. Yet many policies and laws conflict with and are contraindicated by the research, making it imperative that we advocate for successful strategies which promote positive outcomes for the youth and for our communities.

More than ever before, the need for continuing education is clear as we share news from research, case management and clinical practice to bring the most up to date services to the youth we treat and work to prevent others from beginning to perpetrate sexual abuse. New information is changing what we need to know and do in practice and the annual NAPN conference is all about sharing!

"Riverwalk" will welcome diverse, multidisciplinary professionals - working with youth in a wide range of roles and settings - to explore the implications of research and experience and provide a chance to connect with and support each other in working with the troubled and troubling youth who perpetrate sexual abuse. NAPN in February, promises statistically less chance of big snows throughout the country; and the Wyndham Riverwalk Hotel promises an enthusiastic welcome for NAPN and an affordable venue within walking distance of many attractions.

With 300 days of sunshine a year, San Antonio is an ideal destination year round. The daily average temperature in February is a high of 67 degrees and a low of 44 degrees. San Antonio is the ideal blend of Texas history and a cosmopolitan city. Experience the best of South Texas when you stay at the Wyndham San Antonio Riverwalk. Conveniently located along San Antonio's spectacular Riverwalk, the Wyndham Riverwalk Hotel is within walking distance of the Alamo, Tobin Center for the performing Arts, The Pearl Brewery Shopping Complex and El Mercado Marketplace. Not to mention the Wyndham is just a short drive to the AT&T Center, Six Flags Fiesta Texas Amusement Park, Sea World and much more. So a visit to San Antonio can also be just plain fun for those who might like to tack on a little vacation time.

Great things are happening in our field and in NAPN's future.....Plan Now to attend!!
