A New Baby Haven Almost a Reality A therapeutic nursery to be built for infants with mothers in addiction recovery

Located in Denver, Co., the Haven is a residential substance abuse treatment program for the most disadvantaged pregnant women and mothers with infant children, where women can recover from addictions and co-occurring illnesses; deliver healthy, drug-free infants; and become self-sufficient, confident, and productive members of the community.

The Haven currently resides in buildings that are approximately 118 years old, and that are not currently programmatically or structurally able to meet the needs of a growing therapeutic nursery and early childhood education center for babies. In 2008, Friends of the Haven, a not-for-profit 501c3 organization, set out to secure the financial resources to build a new Baby Haven building to expand and improve care for the Haven babies.

We have raised over 90 % of funding for the new Baby Haven and encourage you to help us over the goal line in order to complete the project. Please join us for these exciting events in support of the Baby Haven.
