Join us for the ACCORDS/CCTSI Community Engagement Forum to learn from community partners and experienced community engagement researchers. Throughout this series we will discuss how and why investigators can benefit by engaging community members to inform their research at all stages. This quarterly forum aims to answer questions and explore topic areas for those who are new to or already doing engaged research.

During the first forum, Dr. Nease will be joined by Lucille Campbell and Dr. Amy Huebschmann, a community-academic partnership, to share their perspectives on community-engaged research and how to form and sustain a successful partnership.
