A. People with neurodevelopmental disabilities should have appropriate access to mental health services in parity with the general population.

B. The state should develop a reimbursement system that fully includes people with co-occurring diagnosis in the capitated managed care system for mental health services.

C. Care Coordination should have the authority to operate across systems for neurodevelopmental disabilities services, mental health services, primary care services, and long-term care services and supports.

D. Supports and services should consider the holistic needs of the individual and his or her community-based support system.

E. An integrated system of monitoring should be developed to ensure the desired outcomes are ultimately achieved at the individual and systems level.

F. Specialized cross-training should be provided to increase the effectiveness of assessment, prevention, intervention and crisis response.