Substance misuse impacts the maternal and child health population disproportionately. With issues such as maternal substance use and substance exposure in newborns gaining a lot of attention across the nation, the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment (CDPHE) is expanding strategies to reach across Colorado. This presentation will provide information on the maternal and child health substance misuse projects, opioid overdose prevention efforts, marijuana prevention and education efforts, and collaborative projects with state and local level partners that are addressing these issues.

Following this event, the audience will better understand:

- Colorado’s activities to prevent substance misuse
- Statewide opioid overdose prevention efforts
- Marijuana prevention and education programming across the state
- Impact on our state’s maternal and child health population

Speaker: Shayna Micucci, MSW, Opioid Overdose Prevention Program Coordinator and Maternal and Child Health Substance Misuse Priority Lead, Violence and Injury Prevention-Mental Health Promotion Branch, Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment
