Adam Tucker would appreciate hearing from any clinicians (especially those not in the public system) who are willing to see persons with I/DD and Mental Health/Behavioral concerns in their practice.

Crisis Pilot Update

• The CSCR Pilot will be conducting another round of independent Program Evaluations, and we are excited to gather any new best-practices, as well as limitations and lessons learned.

• The CSCR Pilot is constantly focusing on reinforcing and developing innovative ways to use a person-centered approach and trauma-informed care in addressing crisis events.

• The Partners are working diligently with other service providers in order to develop comprehensive supports and follow-up plans that are based on the individual’s acuity of need. This approach encourages earlier interventions, supports being provided in the environments that mitigate the need for transitions, and a continuum of care that embodies the recovery model.

• Legislative Report on or before July 1, 2018.
