

Looking for a supplementary or additional treatment for your child's headaches?

We are conducting a research study which provides an educational learning program for adolescents with headaches. This would be in addition to any treatment your physician/neurologist is giving you. Your child may be eligible, see below.

We are seeking adolescents with recurrent headaches who:

- Are male or female
- Between 13 and 17 years old
- Have no serious medical conditions
- Have between 2-15 headaches on average a month

The study is evaluating the effects of an educational learning program in group format for adolescents with recurrent headaches. All participants will continue to receive treatment as usual by their normal provider. Some individuals chosen by chance will receive the educational learning program which is weekly for 60-70 minutes for 8 sessions. All participants will be asked to fill out a headache diary in addition to questionnaires and assessments. If you are interested call the number below. You are at no obligation to participate if you call to learn more about the study.

The study offers compensation for participating in program and for assessments!
