The Liniger Building at the University of Colorado South Denver
Goals of South Denver

- Encourage all four CU campuses to reach South Denver and expand CU enrollments
- Provide additional space for any interested CU programs
- Encourage nearby businesses to train their employees at CU
- Provide a fresh new location and venue for K-12 partnerships
- Support the lines of auxiliary business that can be profitable to CU and connect CU to the community
Founded in 2002, The Wildlife Experience is a wildlife art and natural history museum designed to serve South Denver.

The venue will still be available for K-12 students, the public, and the community, and CU will have access to the building's public spaces, including the theater, galleries, and event space.

$1.8 million of University cash has already been used to renovate 11,000 square feet of the building for higher education, including:

- Two 48-seat general classrooms
- A 32-station computer lab
- Simulation and basic skills lab for the nursing program
- Faculty and administration support offices

An additional $1.9 million is expected to be invested in additional renovation to start within the fiscal year.
CU Denver Role

- CU Denver has been designated to be the Facility Manager on behalf of CU and provide basic services such as housekeeping, IT, maintenance, repair, and utilities.
- CU Denver will ensure that all CU campuses have fair access to the facility and will coordinate all scheduling for both academic access and event access.
- CU Denver will hire staff to operate the museum, events, and K-12 education and staff to support all of the operations at the Liniger Building.
- CU Denver will collaborate with all CU campuses, the University of Colorado Board of Regents, the CU System Office, and all related stakeholders to yield success with this gifted property.
Currently, only University of Colorado Denver | Anschutz programs are being offered for the Fall 2014. These programs and current enrollments are:
