How to set up direct deposit

I hereby authorize the University of Colorado to:
1. Deposit credit balances from my tuition and fee account via electronic transfer of funds to my account at the financial institution that I designate.
2. Credit my checking or savings account with these funds.
3. Initiate, if necessary, debit entries and adjustment for any credit entries in error to my account.

I understand that:
1. Once I have signed up for direct deposit, any future credit balance will automatically be deposited in my financial institution account. For degree-seeking students at the Boulder campus, the required enrollment deposit (less any outstanding charges) will be deposited approximately 4.6 weeks after graduation or separation.
2. This direct deposit authorization does NOT authorize the university to withdraw money from my account for tuition and fee charges.
3. The deposit will show on my financial institution account approximately two to three business days after the credit appears on my university tuition and fee account.
4. I should contact my financial institution to verify receipt of funds.
5. I acknowledge that the origination of direct deposit transaction to my account must comply with the provisions of U.S. law. I also understand that I cannot cancel this authorization through any parties, including my financial institution, but must cancel this authorization by deleting my account using the following pages, or contacting my campus Bursar's Office in writing or email.
6. Refunds reflect current activity on each campus's bursar account. If I realize I may be assessed future charges if I change my schedule, enroll in a waitlisted class, or receive a financial aid adjustment, or if I am enrolled at more than one campus, I understand I may have a separate bill that may still need to be paid.
