

Honor Code School of Medicine Class of 2022

We, the class of 2022, are united by our passion to respect and serve the human condition. We recognize that medicine is driven by science yet balanced by the art of healing and compassion.

Remembering where we come from, who we are, and where we are going, we will advocate for equity in the lives of our patients and peers. We celebrate the richness of our diverse community. We will continue to serve and understand cultures outside of our own.

We seek to pursue truth, justice, and goodness throughout our medical education. United by our commitment to preserve human rights, we will use our minds, our hearts, and our hands to heal.

It is vital to our practice that we acknowledge and respect the various roles involved throughout the healing process.

We vow to care for ourselves, recognizing our strengths and limitations. We will continue to pursue excellence, broaden our skillsets, and make time for those we love.

We will care for one another and leave no peer behind. We will stand by each other along this journey, through encouragement, love, and trust. Together, we will humbly abide by the university honor code and keep each other accountable. Together, we will collaborate, innovate, and grow. Together, we will serve humanity.
