We thank our community partners for their endorsement of this special project to support the medical community: Colorado Medical Society, COPIC, Colorado Hospital Association and Colorado Psychiatric Society. The Care Line helps those who are serving patients during this challenging time.

About:

By contacting the Care Line at 720-810-9131, you will be linked with a physician peer who will listen and discuss stresses associated with the COVID-19 crisis, and caring for those suffering from the disease. CPHP regularly deals with acute stress situations and has expertise in assisting frontline healthcare providers. This service is provided in response to the widespread stress and anxiety of the COVID-19 situation and the effects on healthcare providers. What you do for the community, especially now, is unmatched and greatly appreciated and we are here to support you!

Details:

Calls to the Care Line are free of charge. The Care Line is not treatment, but rather an opportunity for peer support in a confidential environment.
