

Welcome to Fall 2025

Stay Up to Date with the SCCS

When you chose to enroll at the University of Colorado you assumed the responsibility to uphold standards of conduct appropriate to the academic and community goals set by the University.

To ensure your success at CU Denver, it is imperative that you are familiar with your rights and responsibilities as a Student. Additionally, please be aware of the recent changes that have been made to the Student Code of Conduct.

Know the Code

The Student Code of Conduct (Code) made three major changes this Academic Year.
To review the Code, please visit our website: ucdenver.edu/conduct

Restorative Justice Opt-in

Students that are willing to (1) accept responsibility and (2) repair any harm they caused may be eligible to resolve the concern through a restorative process (Section (IV)(E) of the Code).

To learn more about the RJ process, contact the SCCS at studentconduct@ucdenver.edu or by phone at 303-315-7311

Anti-Hazing Policy

Federal legislative changes offered us the opportunity to show our commitment to preventing, addressing, and reporting instances of hazing (Appendix B of the Code).

To report concerns of Hazing, please visit the SCCS's website: ucdenver.edu/conduct

The Anti-Hazing Policy can be found at:

Student Organization Process

The student organizational conduct process has been adjusted. Specifically the matter is investigated by a neutral fact-finder and then the final outcome is decided by a Board (Appendix G of the Code).

To learn more about the expectations of Student Orgs, contact the Office of Student Life & Campus Community at studentorgs@ucdenver.edu or by phone at 303-315-7288
