

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Psychology is an extremely broad discipline. While consistently focused on the individual, it deals with everything from brain and neurological functions to social and environmental influences on behavior and thought. Here at CU Denver, our undergraduate program covers aspects of all the following: experimental psychology, biopsychology, animal behavior, developmental psychology, cognitive psychology, and abnormal psychology. As a foundation, the programs also include an early exposure to research methods and statistics. The psychology major is designed to help students achieve the following learning goals:

- Knowledge Base of Psychology: Students will recognize, explain, and distinguish the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in Psychology.
- Research Methods in Psychology: Students will demonstrate the statistical, organizational, writing, and analytical skills necessary to interpret and conduct meaningful and valid research in Psychology.
- Critical Thinking Skills: Students will use skeptical inquiry and scientific thinking skills to interpret and solve problems related to behavior and mental processes.
- Application of Psychology: Students will apply psychological principles to solve personal, social, and/or organizational problems.
- Values in Psychology: Students will evaluate evidence, tolerate ambiguity, act ethically, recognize and respect diversity, and/or reflect other values that are the underpinnings of psychology as a discipline.

The Department of Psychology strives to provide the highest quality, state-of-the-art educational experience for our undergraduate students. Our faculty members bring alive for students the subject matter and methodologies of psychology and prepare students to become sophisticated consumers and evaluators of information. Our students can collaborate with faculty on research projects at the intersection of psychology and neuroscience in areas such as drug abuse, stress, brain development, health and wellness, depression, and marital relationships—research that is often focused on problems of contemporary urban life.

ACADEMIC ADVISING

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (CLAS) supports students to graduation using a shared advising system. CLAS students have two academic advisors with whom they should meet regularly to discuss academic and degree progress: a CLAS Academic Advisor and a major advisor.
