Candidate Care

Importance of Candidate Care

- CU Denver/Anschutz is committed to providing an exceptional applicant experience.
 - Communication is key – inclusive, timely and transparent
- Foster a culture of candidate care in all searches to create a competitive advantage.
 - Word of mouth advertising
- Candidate care can determine if someone wants to continue pursuing a role they applied to or even future roles.
- Utilizing the statuses and notifications in Taleo to ensure all candidates are notified of their status in the search process.
- If the candidate was a in the top group for second round interviews call the candidate vs. sending a message via the system. Personalize the communication. Consider whether the candidate might be a good fit for other roles.
- Put yourself in the candidate's shoes. What would you like to see as a candidate?

Internal Candidate Care

- The University of Colorado is dedicated to investing in and developing our internal community (including CU Boulder, Colorado Springs, Denver, and Anschutz Medical Campus).
- Ways to foster internal talent:
 - Developing preferred qualifications that speak to an applicant's working experience within CU.
 - Confirm internal candidates through Taleo by adding pre-screening questions.
 - Ensure applicants are notified in a timely manner of their status in the process
 - Use custom notifications – when possible, providing personal notifications to the internal candidate.
- The Talent Acquisition team is here to help if you would like support in navigating candidate care for internal employees

Reference Checks

Best Practices and Resources for Checking References

Why are reference checks important?

- Due diligence - an opportunity to verify the information a candidate provided
- Additional insight into the candidate's performance, skills, and work history
- Opportunity to assess the candidate's ability to be successful in the role
- Avoid hiring candidates with known performance issues

Reference Check Guidelines

- CU Denver/Anschutz encourages both on and off-list reference checks
 - Notify candidates before conducting on and off-list references
- Three to five references should be conducted before moving forward with an offer to the candidate
- Use SkillSurvey as a tool for insight into past performance, but this doesn't substitute for contacting references to inquire further
- Inquire as to re-employment eligibility and reasons for leaving previous jobs
- Be sure there is a business-related reason for asking specific questions and use of the information obtained
- Maintain the highest level of confidentiality throughout the process. Do not delegate the reference gathering process to anyone outside the hiring process and share information gathered on a need to know basis only.

Reference Check Best Practices

- If the applicant is an internal employee or former employee, talk to their current supervisor or last known supervisor or business partner to get current knowledge about the applicant
- If a former employee, work with your TAC Consultant to look at HCM to see why the person left the University. If the person has been terminated for cause, please reach out to the Employee Relations & Performance team and former supervisor to discuss the reasons the person was terminated before making a verbal offer.
- Ask the applicant to provide reference information if it is missing from the application including name, title, phone number and email address of the most recent employers
- If you believe the employer is hesitant to provide information over the telephone, offer to have them call you back so that the person providing the reference can verify who you say you are.
- Lastly, always check references whether it's internal or external candidates.

Reference Check Best Practices (con'd)

- If asked to provide a reference to a prospective hiring authority on campus or in the CU System, please participate!
- Oftentimes an employee will resign in lieu of termination, and that will simply appear as a routine resignation in HCM
- When providing a reference, be factual in your responses
- Case Study: A Department on campus recently hired an employee who had previously been with three CU Anschutz departments. The employee had terminated for performance from two of the Departments, and was having performance issues in Department #3 when they applied for a position in Department #4. The hiring manager for Department #4 did not call any references on campus because the candidate requested on their application to not have their supervisors contacted. The employee was hired, and immediate performance issues emerged. By the time that the employee was terminated, the unit had been significantly burdened by this one employee simply because the supervisor did not check references.

HR Operations Updates & Reminders

Megan Bohn, HR Director of Operations

Updates and Reminders

Background Checks

- Central HR Operations is responsible for entering pass dates in HCM for the background checks that we run.
- Please refrain from entering the dates when you receive the pass letter. We are finding incorrect or incomplete dates entered.

Postings

- Please remember to submit a search summary (or in some cases the matrix) before the posting is closed.

Independent Contractor/SOW

- A SOW most likely will be denied if the individual is actively or has been an employee on any campus in the same tax year. In these cases, contact sow@cu.edu to discuss options.

THINGS TO REMEMBER

You don't have to be perfect

Having a bad day is ok

Small steps are also progress

Asking for help is strenght

People love and appreciate you

Updates and Reminders

Hiring Individuals Working Outside the U.S.

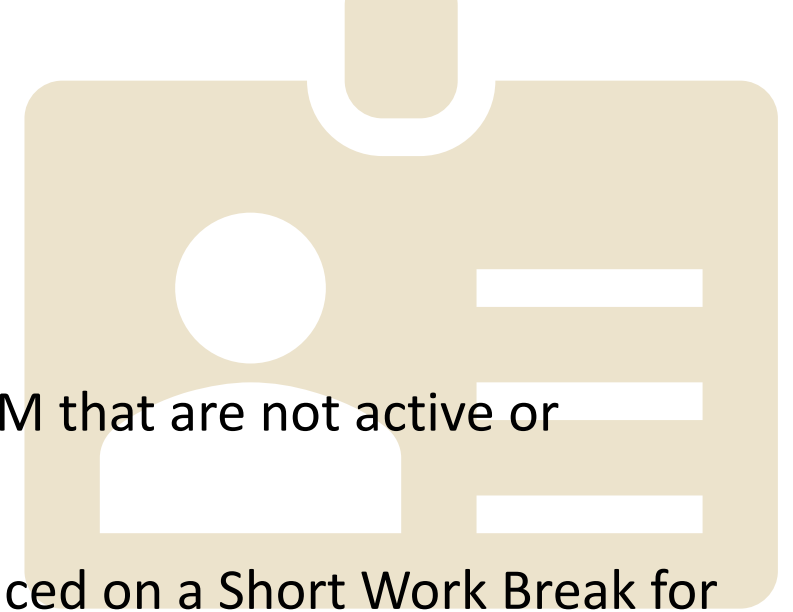

- A CU Global Employee is any employee whose work site is located outside of the United States, regardless of citizenship and residency.
- CU is not a Global Employer; that is, the university is not a legal hiring authority in any country outside the U.S. CU employees working outside of the U.S. cannot be serviced by Employee Services through the current payroll and benefits systems.
- When hiring an individual working outside of the U.S. departments should utilize the university's Global Professional Employer Organization (PEO), Global PEO Services.

Updates and Reminders

Personnel Roster Management

- Remember that it is a best practice to terminate employees in HCM that are not active or planning to return in a reasonable amount of time.
- We have encountered several issues in which employees were placed on a Short Work Break for years and/or remain active with no intention of returning. Some examples include:
 - Employee hired by another campus with provisioning and benefits issues due to having another active appointment.
 - Scope of Work requests getting denied when individual shows as an active employee but had not worked for years.
 - Background checks not ran on what are technically “rehires” with a large gap in service.
 - Unable to purge records and I-9’s according to retention schedule because still appears active in the system.
 - Employment verification discrepancies.
