Biography

Gordon Duvall is a Doctor of Nursing Practice, pediatric nurse practitioner, fatherhood practitioner, educator, father and community activist who has been involved in advocating for and serving the youth and adolescent community by providing direct care as well as serving as a clinical instructor for nursing students. Gordon provides nursing consultation services to childcare centers in the Denver Metro area in an effort to ensure that our youngest community members receive quality care and are safe in the childcare settings that they attend. Gordon has worked in his community as a health advocate working for children and those disadvantaged. Gordon has most recently been the Aurora Community Health Clinic director of medical, education and operations.
