

ACCORDS Grand Rounds

Presents:

Ross Brownson, PhD, MPH

Bernard Becker Professor of Public Health, Washington University in St. Louis

"Designing for Dissemination: How might we increase the reach and impact of our discoveries?"

Dr. Brownson is one of the most prolific and respected D&I researchers in the world. He is recognized internationally for his research, training and policy contributions, including the recently published definitive text, Dissemination and Implementation Research in Health.

This presentation will describe principles of designing for dissemination and how these approaches can be incorporated into ongoing research projects. It will also present approaches for enhancing the impact of research.
